SCHOOL NEEDS DISCUSSED BY SUPT. RIEGLE

High school facilities in the Gettysburg Joint School District probably are adequate for the "foreseeable future" but the size of the proposed new elementary school building is yet to be decided, Superintendent of Schools H. Edgar Riegle told members of the Gettysburg Parent-Teacher Association Thursday evening at their January meeting in the Keefauver School auditorium.

Mr. Riegle said that his statement on the high school covers only the next five or six years. He said there has not been any decision on whether any present grade school buildings will be closed after the new structure on the county home land site has been completed.

He added that at least two roomfuls of elementary pupils expected next fall will not have space in the present school buildings. Future anticipated enrollments, the financial condition of the districts in the joint school system and many other factors will control the size of the new buildings which is determined in large measure by the state, the speaker said.

"People At The Top"

Mr. Riegle, continuing to answer questions at the end of his discussion of duties and responsibilities of superintendent and school directors, said the state now will not grant funds for gymnasiums in grade school buildings and has sharply reduced the state aid for kindergarten units in public schools. "The people at the top of the school are concerned," Mr. Riegle said. "It is the people who elect the school directors and the directors choose the superintendent and the staff of teachers and supervisors."

The superintendent, who took up his present duties January 1, discussed state laws covering powers of school boards and of the importance of "cooperative action between boards, the state and the local school administrators in managing the school system."

School Policies Up To Board

Mr. Riegle discussed briefly the duties of the superintendent in connection with personnel, curriculum, pupils, finances, school plants and public relations.

"All problems involving school policy should be referred to the school board which is responsible to the public," the speaker said. He also pointed out that board members can deal with school problems only when they are in session as a board.

President James R. Feather presided at the meeting with 150 or more in attendance.

Thirteen Lose Lives When Heavy Rains Boost Floods

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The toll of death and destruction mounted today as new heavy rains fed one of the worst floods in the history of the Appalachian Mountain region and carried the threat deeper into the South.

Thirteen were dead in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia — first to be struck when floodwaters rolled out of the mountains four days ago.

President Eisenhower declared portions of Kentucky and West Virginia a disaster area as damages ran into millions of dollars, Virginia Gov. Thomas B. Stanley also requested disaster designation for six southwest counties where 2,000 were homeless and 18,000 knocked out of their jobs.

Red Cross Renders Aid

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross, said it was allocating half a million dollars for flood relief in the three states.

But even as already devastated areas began the herculean task of getting back to normal, new flood warnings were raised in Tennessee, western North Carolina and northeast Georgia.

Farther south, the Warrior River was rising swiftly in Alabama.

Plane Wreckage In School Yard

Wreckage of a giant transport lies in school yard at Pacoima, Calif., Thursday after a jet plane collided with it while in flight. Five airmen and two children were killed. Two score or more children were injured by the wreckage. (AP Wirephoto)

Huge Airliner, Crippled In Crash With Jet Fighter At 20,000 Feet, Falls In Crowded Schoolyard Killing 2 Children, Five Adults

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—A collision-crippled airliner smashed into a crowded schoolyard yesterday, scattering its deadly debris like shrapnel. Seven persons died, two of them children.

The injured numbered 78. Shocked citizens today sought some curb on plane testing over such populous areas as this sprawling San Fernando Valley city.

The four-engine plane, on its final test flight, collided at 20,000 feet with a jet fighter, also being tested. The transport came down in a screaming dive, disintegrating as it fell.

Blazing Wing Explodes

A blazing wing section exploded over the athletic field at Pacoima Junior High School, where nearly 100 seventh-grade boys in gym clothes were exercising.

The plane's flying fragments cut them down as they ran. Two were hurt fatally. The four men in the transport also were killed, as was the pilot of the fighter plane.

Hospitals said 28 persons were admitted, all but one of them pupils. Fifty other boys were treated and released, attendants reported.

Demand Investigation

Two other schools, a church and scores of residences for blocks around were damaged by bits and pieces of the plane as it burst like a fiery bomb over the residential area 20 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

In Washington, D.C., southern California House members united in a demand for an investigation. They said they would seek to prevent future test flights over populous areas. City and school officials joined in condemning the practice.

Hundreds of persons saw the two planes plunge from cloudless skies.

The big silver airliner, a DC7 being readied by Douglas Aircraft for Continental Air Lines, turned in a vast curve, spouting flames and smoke. As the angle of its dive steepened, it came apart piece by piece, filling the air with debris.

Like Ticker Tape Falling

"It looked like stove pipes and ticker tape falling," said a motorist, M. C. Dougherty.

The jet, an F89 Scorpion being tested by Northrop Aircraft, Inc., went down several miles east of Pacoima.

"It kept going straight for a moment," said Jack Bacich, 41, who was working in his yard at the time. "Then it banked slightly and went straight down into the ground."

Lost Cockpit Canopy

"We had completed the second of three passes we were making to test our radar. I saw something 'oom up on the left side. After that I'm not sure what happened."

"There was a crash . . . We lost our cockpit canopy . . . Fire came in. There wasn't much time to think of anything. I guess I bailed out. I can't figure how we

Directors Learn Hospital In Dire Need Of New Wing; Big Increase In Admissions

Directors of the Annie M. Warner hospital virtually ran head-on into the facts of hospital life at their meeting Thursday evening in the Musselman Annex building.

The cold fact that confronted the hospital directors early in the course of the meeting is that a new wing is needed at the hospital now. December, traditionally the month of low occupancy, saw 327 patients admitted to the hospital. The average daily census was 75 patients. Ninety-four babies were born during the holiday month. The house count on December 31 was 93 which is three over capacity. Admission is virtually on an emergency basis most of the time. In addition there is an extensive list of prospective patients.

JANUARY WAS COLDEST HERE SINCE 1948

The three days in the middle of the month when the mercury went to zero or below in Gettysburg helped make last month the coldest January here since 1948 although the month fell far short of records for frigidty set here in the past.

On the average each day last month was 24 degrees colder than "normal" January weather should be here. The average daily reading last month was 28 degrees.

There were 10 days among the 31 when the temperatures stayed below freezing throughout the day and the coldest day of the month was January 18 when the mercury dipped to an official low of seven below zero. The average daily high was 36.28 degrees and the average low was 19.71 degrees. The high reading of 59 degrees came the afternoon of January 22.

Much Worse In 1918

While a nine-year record was set for January cold, last month's lows failed to compare to the kind of cold weather recorded here in January, 1918, when there were 30 inches of snow and the daily average temperature was nine degrees below.

Heart Association Launches '57 Drive For $4,000; Review Work

The reputation of the Adams County Heart Association for carrying out one of the most effective local programs in the state of Pennsylvania was sustained in the report made at a meeting of the board of directors at Hotel Gettysburg Thursday, Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, president of the association, presided over the meeting. He is a member of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Heart Association.

According to the report of Henry M. Scharf, treasurer of the organization, receipts during the year totaled $3,781.35 of which $3,462.35 was raised during the annual campaign. $93 represented voluntary contributions made by a number of people who had use of the hospital beds and beside commodore provided by the association for home use throughout the county and $226 was contributions toward the cost of medication provided by the association.

Of $3,635.82 expended during the year, $1,400.95 went to the Pennsylvania and the American Heart Associations for research in heart disease. The nearly 300 throat cultures done at the Warner Hospital, which have reduced rheumatic fever in Adams County to a low proportion, cost the association $288.50. Medications cost $300 and $608.75 was expended for the purpose of two additional hospital beds and mattresses and three more bedside commodes for use of cardiac patients at home, and for one hi-lo bed at the Warner Hospital for cardiac cases.

Public Meeting February 25

Educational material distributed in the county cost $183.95 and $152.20 was spent for the annual public meeting and heart lecture last year. Expense of last year's (Continued On Page 2)

Confronted with this situation, President Richard Livingston ordered a joint meeting of the finance and new building committees within ten days to study the situation and the possibilities of raising sufficient funds to get the second proposed new wing under way.

Need More Rooms

"This is no longer a project for the future. It is no longer a matter whether the necessary funds can be raised. We must provide more patient facilities and the need can no longer be postponed," Livingston declared.

That the hospital is big business was evidenced by the report for December. Earned income that month, reputedly the low month of the year, was $32,216.40 while actual expenses applicable to December, including $5,211.10 of charity and free services, were $36,364.28 or $4,147.88 less than earned income. The difference was offset by $475.92 in donations, the county appropriation of $2,500 and the state appropriation of $1,190.

Cash collections during December were $32,896.23 while expenditures were $32,283.01.

Physicians Join Staff

Administrator Walter B. Dillon reported that progress on the new X-ray building is slow but he said he anticipated improvement in deliveries and that work to complete the structure will be accelerated in the near future.

On recommendation of the medical staff, the directors approved the following membership applications: Dr. Allen W. Cowley, Harrisburg, as consultant in cardiology and Dr. Charles A. Bickle, Chambersburg, as consultant in dermatology. Dr. John E. Piper, Taneytown, and Dr. Louis J. Restok, Hanover, were elected to active membership on the staff. The transfer of Dr. William E. Flickinger, York Springs, and Dr. Patrick J. McGlynn, Biglerville, from courtesy to active membership was approved.

The FBI Story

CHAPTER 23

by Don Whitehead

Juvenile Crime, Aftermath of War

Of the postwar crime problem which confronted the FBI and local law enforcement officers in the wake of World War II, Director J. Edgar Hoover had said in 1944:

"It is well to analyze the conditions that breed crime today, in order that we may prevent it tomorrow. One of the primary causes of the alarming increase in crime among our young people for example, has been the disintegration of the home as a guiding influence.

"The tremendous numbers of parents who have entered the armed services and war industries no longer can exercise sufficient control over their sons and daughters."

Much of the crime increase could be accounted for by the increase in the nation's population. But that wasn't the whole answer by any means. From 1945 to 1955 population increased 24.3 per cent while crime increased 44.5 per cent.

Juvenile Rate High

A few statistics tell a part of the story. The major crimes committed in 355 cities in the prewar years 1937-1939 averaged 630,257 each year. These were crimes of murder, manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and automobile theft. In these same cities, the major crimes in the postwar years 1946-1955 averaged almost 800,000 each year. In 1955, a serious crime was committed on an average of every 13.9 seconds.

The most shameful part of the postwar crime record was the number of teen-age children involved in major law violations. Boys and girls under 18 were involved in 42.3 per cent of the arrests made for major crimes; and almost half of these were under 15. The reports showed that 62.2 per cent of those arrested in 1955 for automobile thefts and 52.7 per cent of those arrested for burglary had not reached their 18th birthday.

The bare statistics standing by themselves gave the frightening impression that young people had no moral restraints and were running wild. Such an impression was false, of course, but the situation was disgraceful and there was confusion across the land.

FBI Starts School

As early as 1946, Hoover considered the problem so pressing that he directed the organization of an FBI Juvenile Delinquency Instructors School in which special agents were assigned to a broad research project, supplemented by lectures from well-known authorities in the field of juvenile delinquency.

The information gathered in these studies is being made available through FBI training schools to police departments to help them in developing their own programs to combat juvenile delinquency.

One of the most misunderstood facets of law enforcement is the FBI's responsibilities and limitations in the field of civil rights.

Bill of Rights

The Constitutional amendments known as the Bill of Rights provide for freedom of religion, speech, press, assembly and petition; freedom to keep and bear arms, from enforced quartering of troops, from unlawful search and seizure; freedom from being a witness against oneself; freedom from excessive bail or fines; from being deprived of due process; from cruel and unusual punishment; and the right to a speedy and public trial by jury. These are primarily guarantees against oppression of individuals by the federal government. The relationship between private persons are matters which are largely reserved to the states.

Thus a mob might lynch a victim in violation of every concept of decency and fair play, but this action does not necessarily mean that the mob has violated a federal law. And unless a federal law is violated, the FBI has no jurisdiction.

Basic Laws Cited

The two basic civil rights statutes which more or less form the framework of the FBI's responsibilities in this field are found in Sections 241 and 242 of Title 18, United States Code. Section 241 deals for the most part with involuntary servitude, peonage and voting rights. Section 242 applies largely to the actions of law enforcement officers who, "under color of law," willfully deny a person the rights guaranteed by law and the Constitution.

Heavy pressure was put on the federal government in 1955 to have the FBI investigate the murder of Emmett Louis Till, a 14-year-old Negro youth from Chicago who was slain in Mississippi after he allegedly made indecent remarks to a white woman.

The Justice Department's Criminal Division decided that the FBI should not enter the case.

Local Prejudice

The reasoning behind this decision was that while murder no doubt had been done, the federal government had no authority to investigate and prosecute murder unless a federal law had been violated. Unless and until Congress passed a law covering such cases, federal intervention would be an invasion of states' rights.

One of the greatest barriers encountered by the FBI in civil rights violations has been local prejudice. Juries have refused to convict even when defendants confessed.

In 1947 in South Carolina, a cab driver was fatally stabbed near the town of Liberty. A Negro suspect named Willie Earle was arrested and taken to the Pickens County jail for questioning. He protested his innocence.

Word of the arrest spread. Soon a mob armed with shotguns and knives was racing for the jail. Earle was dragged from his cell and pushed into an automobile. Near the Saluda Dam the caravan halted and the prisoner "confessed" to the crime.

The mob beat Willie Earle and stabbed him with knives. Finally shotgun blasts snuffed out the last small flame of life.

Confessions From 26

The Justice Department authorized the FBI to conduct a full investigation because Earle had been in custody of an officer and there was a possibility that his civil rights had been denied "under color of law" by his jailer's willingly giving help to the mob or being derelict in his duty. The FBI's investigation exonerated the jailer.

In the investigation, 28 persons were arrested and 26 confessed to taking part in the lynching. The defense offered no testimony. But the jury found all 28 defendants "not guilty" despite the confessions.

Whenever a police officer or an official of a state institution is accused of a possible civil rights violation, the FBI investigates if the Criminal Division of the Justice Department so instructs.

New Attitude Noted

For the most part, the FBI has found local law enforcement officers willing to cooperate in civil rights investigations.

An attitude has developed—and is growing—that if a police officer has treated a prisoner brutally and denied him his civil rights, then the officer deserves to be exposed, punished and fired for the good of the entire force and law enforcement generally. But if the charges are untrue, then the officer's innocence should be established beyond doubt.

lower than that for last month. Snowfall last month totaled 6 1/2 inches. There was measurable rain or snow on nine days last month and the total precipitation was 2.42 inches, a shortage of 0.67 inches from normal but an inch more than was received here in January of last year.

Fog and sleet were part of the weather picture here in January.

Colder At Arendtsville

At the Arendtsville laboratory weather station, Dr. Frank N. Hewetson reported more snow and more severe cold than Gettysburg experienced last month.

The low there was 10 below zero on the 18th while the high mark equalled Gettysburg's 59 degrees on the 22nd. The average daily high reading at Arendtsville was 35.61 degrees and the average minimum was 17 degrees for a monthly average of 26.3 degrees. That is 4.2 degrees below normal there and 3.35 degrees colder than last January's average.

Arendtsville had 7.6 inches of snow while precipitation there totaled 2.56 inches. That is 0.44 inches below normal and 1.05 inches below January of last year. Dr. Hewetson measured only 113 hours and 45 minutes of sunshine last month which was 37.84 per cent of the "total available" if the sun had shone all day every day.

Benton Gilbert was named as vice president of the Veteran Firemen; David A. Tawney, secretary-treasurer, and Percy Miller, chaplain.

Accept Eight Members

Eight new members, men who had filled the requirement of ten-year membership in the Gettysburg Fire Department were accepted into the roster of Veteran Firemen. They were George Burgner, James Shenk, Russell Staley, Charles Bollinger, Francis Linn, William Shealer, Eugene Sickles and Raymond Spahr.

The installation of Sickles, Gettysburg Fire Department secretary, as a member brought applause from the group, because he had served for 17 years as a fireman before he could be accepted as a member of the Veteran Firemen. He served for seven years as a member of the local fire department, then resigned because his work took him out of Gettysburg. Returning to the community after World War II and service with the Seabees, he resumed his membership in the fire department and thus had to serve another ten years before he was eligible to join. However for the last several years he has been an invited guest at the Veteran Firemen's dinners because of his long service.

Paul L. Roy Speaks

Assistant Fire Chief Donald Staub was introduced as pledged to become a member of the Veteran Firemen's group next year. He missed membership this year because he was just ten days short of a full ten-year membership in the fire department.

Staub, Fire Chief Donald McSherry and Assistant Fire Chief Francis Linn were among those called upon for brief remarks.

Paul L. Roy, editor of The Gettysburg Times, spoke briefly at the dinner session. Incoming President Snyder expressed his appreciation for the honor bestowed upon him by the election.

A minute of silent prayer was held for C. Ray Rupp and Amos Weikert, members who died in the last year.

Francis Smith, John Codori and Emory Strausbaugh were introduced as members of the committee in charge of the dinner. Dewey Wolff, secretary of the Moose lodge, was introduced as "our host."

The jet pilot, whose body was found in the wreckage of the plane in a foothill canyon, was Roland E. Owen, 36, a veteran Navy flier and the chief of production flight tests for Northrop.

Had No Parachutes

Douglas officials said the 11 crewmen carried no parachutes—because the flight was not considered dangerous. A recorder taped their last radio message:

"Mid-air collision . . . Mid-air collision. . . HOW (the plane's designation) . . . We're going . . . Uncontrollable . . . Say goodbye to everybody"

Killed in the DC7 were William Carr, 36, the pilot; copilot Archie R. Twitchell, 50, a colorful flier and part-time movie actor who made his first solo flight in 1923; Waldo B. Adams, 42, the flight engineer; and Roy Nakazama, 29, the radio operator. All lived in the Los Angeles area.

The dead boys were Ronnie Brann, 13, and Bob Zailan, 12, both of Pacoima.

Scenes Of Anguish

The school grounds and the hospitals were scenes of anguish as parents swarmed about trying to find their children.

When Mrs. Virginia Brann was given the news at Sun Valley Hospital that her son Ronnie was dead, her voice rose in a wail:

"Oh no, no, no! I didn't even kiss you goodbye this morning." Alex Gorles, who lives across the street from the school, said watching the crippled plane plow into the boys at play "was the worst thing that ever happened to me."

"Hit And Bounce"

"I saw the thing hit and bounce," he said. "I counted eight kids mangled. One of them had his leg torn off. They were running every way, like quail . . . Then it hit."

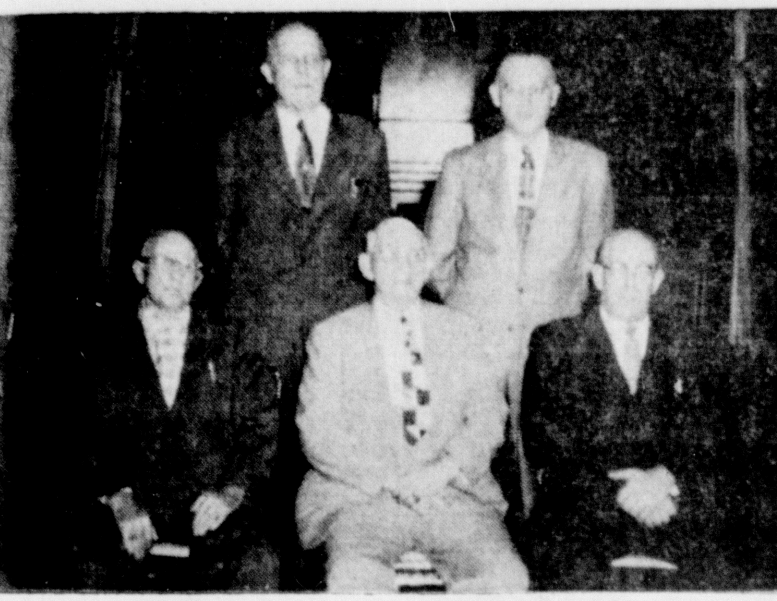

One of the boys, Tony Barrios, 13, said he and all the other boys started to run when they saw the plane coming at them, streaming smoke and flames and emitting an unearthly scream.

"Then I dropped to the ground and covered my face," he said. "The gas was all over and the heat was terrific. Everybody was screaming. I laid there for a while and then I got up."

"I saw part of a body flying at me," said Floyd Negrete, 12. "I tripped and fell and hurt my head and broke my left arm."

routine business of the directors, it was developed that the hospital needs accommodations for 25 additional patients. Incidental to the new wing that is so urgently needed is the matter of constructing a boiler house to accommodate new high pressure boilers for heat, hot water and steam for sterilizing purposes; also the enlargement of the kitchen and its transfer from its present location to a more central location in the basement of the present new wing.

President Livingston assured the directors that the finance and new building committees will study the problem right away and will have recommendations to make to the directors at their meeting in February or March.

$275 MILLIONS SUGGESTED FOR S. S. BENEFITS

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today recommended 275 million dollars to pay for improved social security benefits voted by the last Congress.

It included that amount in a catch-all bill calling for $335,000,000 in supplemental funds for the remaining five months of the current fiscal year. The over-all total was $46,997,500 less than President Eisenhower had requested.

The extra funds for the social security administration would boost to $1,575,000,000 the amount provided for the program for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Emergency Fund

The committee set aside an extra 15 million dollars for emergency conservation measures in drought-stricken states. The President had asked for 25 millions for this purpose, but the committee said the lesser sum would be enough for the five months remaining in this fiscal year.

It recommended that authority of the Agriculture Department to make farm ownership loans be hiked by 20 million dollars, bringing the total for this purpose to 44 millions for the year.

Also approved was an increase of 45 million dollars in revolving loan funds for the Small Business Administration.

Reject I. D. Request

The committee rejected a request of the Interior Department for 30 million dollars to continue domestic purchase of tungsten, asbestos, fluorspar and columbium - tantalum for the defense stockpile. The committee said there is no defense justification for further acquisition of these minerals and that "continuation of this subsidy program . . . is entirely unwarranted."

A request for $67,500 to enable the Foreign Quarantine Service to inspect ships on a 24-hour basis also was rejected. The committee said shippers now pay for the cost of extra-hour immigration and customs clearance.

Cooney replied: "I don't know."

4,000 Tugboat Men Walk Off On Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Crews of tugboats along the East Coast and Great Lakes struck today in a contact dispute over improved wages and working conditions.

Four thousand men walked out in the New York Harbor area. The harbor waters, usually the scene of churning activity, were almost barren of craft.

The two-year contract of the crewmen, members of Local 333, United Marine Division of the National Maritime Union, expired at midnight.

Federal and city mediators, who conferred last night with both the union and management, represented by the Marine Towing and Transportation Employers Assn., scheduled another meeting today.

$50,000 ROBBERY

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Four heavily armed men robbed the Libbey-Owens-Ford Employees Federal Credit Union of $50,000 this morning, the credit union manager, Albert Gottfried, told police.

"They cleaned us out," Gottfried said of the four men who appeared with pistols at 9:40 a.m., just after Brinks Express had delivered the money.

MacArthur Repulses New Japanese Invasion; Report Severe Casualties: Washington, Feb. 2 — General Douglas MacArthur reported today that the defenders of the Bataan peninsula in the Philippines had repulsed with heavy enemy losses the latest series of Japanese attacks, which were made by the foe's best troops who employed new tactics.

A War department communique reporting developments of the past 24 hours and also summarizing savage fighting of the past several days said that two Japanese divisions were hurled simultaneously against American-Filipino lines. On the west coast, the South China Sea shore, the invaders were forced back to the coast, and either destroyed, captured or drowned, the communique said.

Thomas Small Leads Boys In Stamp Sales: By virtue of his sale of 6,197 ten-cent defense stamps in seven weeks, Thomas Small jumped into the lead on Saturday in the campaign by The Gettysburg Times to help the United States in its war effort. A total of 42,807 stamps has been sold since the drive started.

Polio Victim Coming Home: Able To Walk: Martha Martin, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Martin, Gettysburg R. 4, who entered the Warm Springs Foundation last October 26, is ready to come home.

A telegram received Monday evening by her parents read: "Dr. Irwin has dismissed me. Come and get me. Love, Martha."

Mr. and Mrs. Martin are arranging to have Martha come to Washington by train and they will meet her there. They expect Martha to reach her home here late this week.

When Martha went to Warm Springs last October she was unable to walk or even raise herself to a sitting position. Now after little more than three months of hydro-and advanced physiotherapy, she is able to walk unassisted in water and uses only a brace on her left leg while walking about the hospital.

Governor and Mrs. James To Attend Prom: Governor and Mrs. Arthur H. James will attend the annual Junior Prom at Gettysburg college Friday evening and the Governor will crown a coed, Miss Kathleen Plinchbaugh, York, as Queen of the Prom, according to an announcement from Gettysburg college today.

Governor and Mrs. James will be guests of honor for the evening at the "National Defense Stamp" as students now refer to the dance at which corsages will be barred. The money usually spent for flowers will be donated, instead, for the purchase of national defense stamps.

All proceeds realized from the dance will be donated to a "Student Contact Fund" which will be established to enable students to send regular letters to Gettysburg college men in the U. S. service twice monthly.

Miss Mildred A. Shue Bride Of Roy V. Bower: Miss Mildred A. Shue, daughter of Mrs. Sue S. Shue, of Biglerville, and Roy V. Sternat, in St. Mary's Lutheran church, Silver Run Maryland, on Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. The double ring ceremony of the Lutheran church was used.

The bride wore a light brown travel suit with poudre blue accessories and a shoulder corsage of white carnations and light blue iris. Mrs. Bowers has been the teacher of the first grade in the Meade school building, here, for the past nine years. She is a graduate of the Biglerville high school class of 1926, and of the

Today's Talk

BEAUTY

We are influenced by beauty, in all its forms, far more than we ever realize. Color and form are parts of this overall beauty. Garment makers, book sellers, and furniture dealers all know the advertising and selling values that beauty creates.

I am fascinated by the various grades of color and the many forms that the limbs of trees have taken in their growth upward. I look out upon them as I write from my library. There are human trails that are exemplified in a forest at any time of the year. All nature is a gathering of the forces of beauty, as though conventioning in their silent way. People who create beauty through sculpturing and painting, as well as in all forms of artistic working, are genuine benefactors of the human race. Our mental processes distribute everything of beauty that is absorbed through the eye of imagination. We are constantly feeding spiritual food to our inner emotions and becoming partners to every contribution of beauty that reaches us through sight or hearing.

Everything in this room where I work exemplifies beauty — the colorful book jackets, the woven rug, the lamp shades, the open fireplace, and the mementoes that find a niche here and there. And in scores of books that line the walls of my work room there are expressed the thoughts of those authors who have enriched the literature of all time.

We all live in the midst of beauty. It is exemplified everywhere. A favorite nature writer has a line in his beautiful book that I have thought about time and time again. He said: "The World has been my garden!"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: More!

Just Folks

A better year? That well may be
If I can shake the sham of pride,
If I can make a better me,
Let conscience be my daily guide,
Control my temper day by day,
With nothing bitter fill my pen,
Make easier another's way,
My world will be much better then.

I cannot right all wrongs afar,
I cannot force the wars to cease;
But there are faults near-by that are
The barriers to inward peace.
If thoughtful care to them I give
And dare to make a better me,
The little world wherein I live
In many ways will better be.

I have a world that's mine alone—
A little world; its houses few,
But as I live in it I'm known
By what of good and ill I do.
I walk its street by night and day,
Bear failure with me or success,
And which by chance has come
My way
From how I step the neighbors guess.

Each has a world that's all his own,
With friends and strangers occupied;
In time man finds it larger grown,
He views its temple spires with pride,
Around him streets and structures lie—
All the fulfillment of men's dreams,
And as the weeks and months rush by
A part of him his city seems.

Columnist Declares Meade Wouldn't Let Lee Win Here

Paul Jones, columnist for "The Philadelphia Bulletin," said that General Robert E. Lee "got his ears pinned back" by General George Gordon Meade in the Battle of Gettysburg July 1, 2, 3, 1863.

In a recent column, written after Jones had viewed the TV telecast of "Lee at Gettysburg," the writer lauded Meade's ability and said that Lee feared his strategy.

Jones wrote as follows: "The other day, we watched a piece on 'Omnibus' which concerned the Battle of Gettysburg and General Robert E. Lee, C.S.A.

"It was an interesting short play in itself, although we believe that, if Longstreet were still alive, he would have a suit for libel against the author. However, that was not the point that interested us most.

"The mystery about Gettysburg, as we see it, is that the three-day battle is always described in a certain kind of literature as a fight that Lee should have won and would have won, except for the failings of his subordinates.

"The truth is that General George Gordon Meade, U.S.A., commanding the Army of the Potomac, wouldn't let Lee win it. If ever a general got his ears pinned back, it was Lee at Gettysburg. A gentleman and a soldier, Lee said as much when he took the whole blame on his own shoulders. Meade had some foolish or obstinate subordinates, too. The difference was that he corrected their mistakes in time.

"At one point in the battle, there was a gap between the Union center and the Union left, due to the incompetence and egregious folly of Sickles, a corps commander who was really a Tammany politician and not much more. Meade filled the gap, with not more than five minutes to spare. But it was filled.

"Battles are won by generals who make 99 mistakes, provided their opponents make 100. That day Meade had the edge on Lee and Lee knew it.

"Lee told Judge Cortlandt Parker afterward, speaking of Union generals: 'Meade, in my judgement, had the greatest ability. I feared him more than any other man I ever met upon the field of battle.' 'Admiral Porter once told of a conversation he had with Grant at City Point just before the surrender of Richmond. Grant said he esteemed Meade highly as a military man. 'Second only to Sherman,' he said, 'and but for his quick temper he would have no superior. . . . With that quick temper goes his quick perception of what is required on the field of battle; it makes his judgment so unexceptional, he seldom makes mistakes.

Second Thoughts
"The man Lee expected to beat in Pennsylvania was General Joe Hooker, who had the Army of the Potomac up until June 27, four days before the battle opened at Gettysburg. When they told him that Meade had succeeded Fighting Joe, whom he had already trimmed at Chancellorsville, six weeks before, Lee began to have second thoughts. He knew Meade (both had been summer cottagers at Cape May) and had reports on his work as commanding general, Fifth Corps. He knew that Washington headquarters had finally put a first — string player in the lineup.

"Lee didn't like any part of the position Meade maneuvered him into. The Union army held strong ground, and the Confederates had the choice only of attacking or retreating. They couldn't hit Philadelphia, Baltimore or Washington, and Meade's primary mission was to cover those great cities. They couldn't stay where they were, and wait for Meade to attack. They had to fight.

At Disadvantage
"The primary object of a general is to make the enemy fight on ground of his own choice, and therefore at a disadvantage. This Meade did, forcing a defeat on Lee, and it is reasonable to suppose that the Union Army was capable, given the same leadership

Meade gave it at Gettysburg, of beating Lee seven days in the week. If Meade had attacked Lee's position, which was equally strong, he would have lost. But he didn't. "Marse Bob benefits by the prestige that always accrues to the romantic leaders of a lost cause. He is good hero material for the fiction writer. Meade, on the other hand, was reserved, crochety and cross-grained except with family and friends of long standing. That is, he was an Old Philadelphian, so it may be merely local patriotism that makes us believe he never got full credit for his immense victory at Gettysburg."

Lafayette was born 200 years ago. His birthplace, the Chateau de Chavignac in the Auvergne section of France, still attracts many American tourists.

"PHANTOM FLIGHTS"

Lonesome are the weary hours . . . since you're far away from me . . . matters not what may transpire . . . I am blue and all at sea . . . dreary are the days without you . . . haunted are the endless nights . . . for I spend each one in sending . . . wishful dreams on phantom flights . . . in an effort to recapture . . . blissful things I used to know . . . when we two would soar to heaven . . . in the distant long ago . . . I recall each happy sojourn . . . that we took in bygone days . . . now you're gone and I am left with . . . memory's enchanting haze . . . ghostly images surround me . . . but each one holds magic charm . . . for they weave a mystic pattern . . . and my heart feels no alarm . . . so each night I drift to dreaming . . . for in dreams I meet with you . . . and together we go flying . . . till the dawning light breaks through.

KING SAUD AND IKE CONFERRING OPTIMISTICALLY

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — King Saud of Saudi Arabia confers with President Eisenhower again today amid optimistic reports from both sides on the joint talks.

The King's visit has been "perfect so far," reported George W. Wadsworth, U.S. Ambassador to Saudi Arabia who is here for the conferences.

And one of the Arabs who attended the King's 24-hour meeting with Secretary of State Dulles yesterday told newsmen the talks went very well.

Deeply Pleased
Both Eisenhower and Dulles were reported to be deeply pleased so far with the progress of the talks.

They are understood to be seeking Saud's support for the Eisenhower program, now pending before Congress, to protect the Middle East against Communist conquest. They also hope to lay the basis here—if not to conclude the deal—for renewal of an agreement covering United States use of the strategic air base at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

Saud's meeting with Eisenhower today was the last scheduled business conference of the two although they will meet again tonight at a dinner the King is giving in Eisenhower's honor. The President entertained Saud at a formal White House dinner Wednesday night.

Going To Annapolis
Tomorrow Saud will visit the U.S. Naval Academy, lunch with the midshipmen and witness a basketball game between Navy and Duke University. His official visit ends tomorrow but he will go Monday to the plush Greenbrier Hotel at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., to remain until Feb. 9.

To date there has been no official disclosure of the nature of the talks or the actual ground covered. If custom is followed a formal statement will be issued on the meetings late today or tomorrow.

The feeling here is that if Saud is convinced of the fairness of American aims, his influence throughout the Arab world will help solve such problems as the future of the Suez Canal and aid in minimizing the spread of Communist power and popularity. The King, who is the protector of the Moslem holy places in Saudi Arabia, is himself a strong anticommunist.

Sounding Out Ike
For his part, Saud reportedly has sounded out Eisenhower and Dulles on the possibility of help in strengthening his nation's air and ground forces. He reportedly talked in terms of about 200 million dollars of new military aid.

The United States now is supplying tanks and training for Saudi Arabia's ground forces on a cash basis. In addition, the Air Force is training pilots there as part of the air base agreement.

Teacher Since '21; She Gets Degree

PITTSBURGH —One of the happiest graduates at the University of Pitt's mid-term commencement exercises today was Mrs. Ruby Fredley who finally received the bachelor of science degree.

After one year at Pitt she passed an examination for teachers. Then she was married and raised a family. In 23 of the intervening 36 years since 1921 she's been a school teacher.

In 1947 Mrs. Fredley decided she should study again so she could obtain a B.S. degree. Since then she's been studying nights, Saturdays and summers.

NO FIT — MAN WORKING

TWIN FALLS, Idaho —Police, advised that a man was "having a fit or something" in the middle of the street, sent officer Angus A. Spence to the address. A man was indeed squirming around in the street, but he explained to Spence that he was only trying to turn a water tap set in a hole in the road.

60 Jewel-studded Cadillacs Ordered

DETROIT —More than 60 jewel-studded, custom-built Cadillacs have reportedly been ordered from General Motors for King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

Automotive circles said the cars would be air-conditioned and some would have one-way window glass, enabling passengers to see out without being seen.

Armour plate and special gun mountings are reported going on some; still others are being especially equipped for desert hunting.

GM's Cadillac Division would neither confirm nor deny the report.

Sources acquainted with the cost of producing such custom-built vehicles estimated the fleet would cost near a million dollars.

Refugee Physician Barred By Pa. Law

ORANGEVILLE, Pa. — A state law stands between a Hungarian refugee physician and the six-year hopes of this 600-person community for a resident doctor.

Mrs. Megargle, president of the Women's Civic Club, said the community had arranged an interview with the refugee physician at Camp Kilmer, N. J. The meeting, set for tomorrow, was canceled after it was learned that the Hungarian could not begin immediate practice in Pennsylvania. The law requires a year's internship in a state hospital and a written examination.

Mrs. Megargle said she was writing Gov. George M. Leader to plead for relaxation of the requirement.

In fact, they arranged for highway patrolmen to stop traffic on the toll road long enough to let Wilson take off again.

COP, TRUCKER CHEAT DEATH

PITTSBURGH —A truck driver and a motorcycle policeman combined their efforts to cheat death yesterday as a runaway tractor trailer roared down a steep hill and crashed in flames against an abutment on the North Side.

The big rig, operated by Dell Fruth, 34, of Fostoria, Ohio, and loaded with 38,000 pounds of steel, went out of control on a steep grade.

Thinking Fruth was exceeding the speed limit, motorcycle patrolman William Freiss chased the truck. As he pulled up to the cab, Fruth shouted:

"My brakes are gone."

Freiss opened his siren and cleared a path down the busy artery. Fruth expertly avoided parked cars and other vehicles as it roared past a busy intersection. Unable to make a curve at the bottom of the grade, the truck crashed against a railroad abutment.

Fruth was pulled from his flaming cab by an off-duty policeman. Fruth was taken to a hospital with burns of the face, hands and neck.

Ironically Freiss is an amateur inventor who developed an auxiliary braking system in 1954 to prevent such accidents. He said his system now is being used on trucks owned by a steel company.

College Swimmers To Host Dickinson Saturday; Cage Squad Travels To Wagner

Three Gettysburg College teams have contests scheduled this week-end prior to the renewal of full scale warfare next week following the midyear recess.

The lone home affair will be the swimming meet Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock between Jim Lentz's Bulldogs and Dickinson. The Bulldogs have one victory and three defeats in four engagements. There will be plenty of seats for fans inasmuch as most students are home for the midyear recess.

Bob Davies and his varsity basketball squad will leave for Staten Island, N. Y., Saturday morning for a scrap with the Wagner College dribblers in the evening.

The Bulldogs showed vast improvement in trouncing Juniata 81-68 last Saturday but will have to show even more improvement against the Seahawks.

Wagner Looms Strong
Wagner has only a 7-9 record but has turned in some fancy performances which will make it a favorite on its home court. The Seahawks' best games were losing ones, 69-68 at the hands of strong Muhlenberg, and a 55-54 reverse by St. John's of Brooklyn. Included among the Wagner victims are Brooklyn Poly, Fairleigh-Dickinson, Upsala, Springfield, West Chester, Stevens Tech and Kings Point.

Through the first 14 games Captain Bob Mahala 6-3 averaged 22.1 points per game. Harry Orlando, 5-10 freshman, had a 13.6 average and Fred Blackwell, 6-4 yearling, averaged 10.9. In addition to Mahala, other letters on the squad are George Blomquist 6-5, Dick Simler 5-9 and Tom Drake 5-10.

This will mark the fifth game between the schools. The Bulldogs have won four while dropping one.

Fresh Have Two Games
Two games are scheduled this weekend for Jack Ridinger's freshman dribblers. Tonight they meet Stevens Trade at Lancaster and on Saturday meet Mercersburg Academy at Mercersburg. The frosh are 4-4.

Gene Haas' wrestlers resume action here Tuesday evening in a twin bill with Franklin and Marshall, the freshmen squads clashing in the preliminary.

WALT ALSTON HAS HIS EYE ON BRAVES, REDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Walter Alston expects Milwaukee and Cincinnati to give his Brooklyn Dodgers their toughest challenge this year with St. Louis also a factor in the National League pennant fight.

"A year ago we were worried about our pitching," he said at a press conference. "We didn't know what to expect from Johnny Podres, Billy Loes and Karl Spooner. Our pitching turned out better than we hoped even without the three men. Now with Podres back and a few youngsters like Roger Craig, Don Drysdale and Don Bessent our pitching has a chance to be the best part of the club."

Asked to compare the Dodger staff with the Braves, Alston said, "Milwaukee has an established staff but our potential is just as good. We do have some question marks."

Podres Uncertain
Alston said the status of Podres, whose back trouble resulted in his discharge from service, was indefinite. "If his back bothers him like it did when I had him on Montreal, we might use him on relief," he said. "If he can pitch like he did in the 1955 World Series, he'll take his regular turn, naturally."

The manager refused to get into the controversy involving Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella, who admit there is cool feeling between them.

Asked about Robinson, who retired after he was traded to the New York Giants, Alston commented that the club would miss Jackie's "determination and spirit in the big games." He said he never had any "serious trouble with Jackie although we had our differences in the first year."

Pro Griddler Will Coach At Villanova

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers of the National Football League said last night that John Sandusky, regular offensive tackle last season, has quit football to take an assistant coaching job at Villanova University, near Philadelphia.

Sandusky played only last season with the Packers after he was acquired from the Cleveland Browns. He played six years at Cleveland.

A Philadelphia, Sandusky played college football at Villanova, where he will become a line coach.

Delone Junior Hi Here Tonight; Squires Host GHS

Gettysburg and Delone Junior High Schools meet here this evening for a basketball twin bill, the junior varsities opening the program at 6:30.

The Senior High Warriors invade McSherrystown to meet the Squires in two more games, the preliminary getting underway at 6:45.

Four games are scheduled in the Adams County circuit, Boiling Springs at Littlestown, York Springs at Biglerville, New Oxford at Fairfield, and East Berlin at Big Spring. Girls' varsities will play the opening games at Littlestown and Biglerville.

MAXWELL AND PALMER LEAD WAY AT PHOENIX

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The accent was on youth today as two former United States amateur golf champions, Billy Maxwell and Arnold Palmer, led the way into the second round of the $15,000 Phoenix Open.

Maxwell, of Odessa, Tex., 1951 winner of the amateur title, and Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., the 1954 champion — both pros for less than three years — had 4-under-par 68s starting off today at the par 34-36-70 Arizona Country Club.

One shot back was still another newcomer, a 25-year-old novice pro named Gene Bone from Louisville, Ky., and Detroit. Representing the Old Guard of tournament golf was Lloyd Mangrum, also listed at 67.

Cary Middlecoff, 1956 winner of the Phoenix event, finished with a 69 and a tie for 14th place around — and in back of such young fellows as Doug Higgins of Midland, Tex., Billy Casper Jr., of Bonita, Calif., Don January of Lampasas, Tex., Sam Uzzetta of Rochester, N.Y., as well as Messrs. Maxwell, Palmer and Bone.

Jimmy Demaret, the Klamath Lake, N.Y., resident pro, settled for a 35-36-70, along with 10 others. Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., former National Open Champion Julius Boros and 13 others had to be satisfied with 71s.

Fullmer and Sugar Ray to Fight in April

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—On April 24, at a time when the mink mating season is over and thoughts turn to rabbit punching, young Gene Fullmer will defend his world middleweight boxing title in a rematch with the old comebacker, Ray Robinson.

The site is Chicago Stadium, in an area satisfactory for blackout purposes to the national television sponsors.

Chicago and a 150-mile radius will not carry the fight to home video audiences but it will be cut in on the national broadcast by the same network, ABC.

See $200,000 Gate
Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, foresees a $200,000 gate after talking Fullmer's mink-raising manager Mary Jensen out of a June shot in Yankee Stadium.

The bout originally was to have been within 90 days of the first fight, which was held in New York Jan. 2. Although a March date was acceptable to Robinson, Jensen wanted to stay at his mink home to take care of his mink business.

The TV sponsors just couldn't see the fight again being held in New York with a blackout arrangement imposed on about 20 per cent of their potential market area. So Chicago again was chosen by the IBC.

Fullmer Favored
Hopes for enough interest to make a $200,000 gate for the rematch undoubtedly will be built on the controversy raised by Fullmer's so-called rabbit punching in lifting the title from Robinson by unanimous decision Jan. 2. Although Fullmer, 25, won decisively there was a sharp exchange of charges and countercharges afterwards.

Each fighter will get 30 per cent of the receipts from the rematch. The money from TV rights has not yet been announced.

Early odds make Fullmer the 13-5 favorite to win again.

Seeks New Trial In Fatal Crash Action

HARRISBURG (AP)—A motion for a new trial was filed in Dauphin County Court yesterday by attorneys for John J. Windish, Lawnton, convicted by a jury last week of involuntary manslaughter in a traffic fatality.

The case grew out of a collision of the automobiles of Windish and Dr. Robert Hafer, Elizabethtown, on the Lancaster Pike in Lower Swatara Twp., east of Highspire, last Oct. 13.

Mrs. Jean D. Hafer, Elizabethtown, a passenger in her husband's car, was killed.

STOCKS ARE LOWER
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was irregularly lower in moderate early trading today.

While a number of leading stocks were higher by fractions, there was a liberal assortment of losers running to around 2 points.

TEST YOUR BASEBALL KNOW-HOW YOU'RE THE MANAGER

(Fifth of a series)

By BEN OLAN

A manager often switches his strategy depending on whether his team is playing at home or on the road. Some managers play a more daring game away from home. To others, it makes no difference.

In the following situation, Pittsburgh Manager Bobby Bragan had to make a decision as

BOB BRAGAN

Roberto Clemente approached the plate. Bragan's maneuver helped the Pirates beat the Milwaukee Braves.

Here's an opportunity to match wits with Bragan, who turned in a fine job in his freshman season in the major leagues. Would you have done under the same circumstances?

The Pirates and Braves are tied 4-4 in the top of the eighth at Milwaukee. Rookie Bob-Trowbridge (R) is on the mound for Milwaukee. Frank Thomas opens the inning with a single. Clemente (R) is the next batter with Lee Walls (R), Bill Virdon (L) and Dick Groat (R) to follow.

Would you:

- a. Let Clemente swing away?
- b. Try a hit-and-run (hitting behind runner)?
- c. Put in a left-handed pinch-hitter for Clemente?
- d. Order Clemente to sacrifice?

Result: D — Clemente sacrifices, Thomas taking second. After Walls is retired, Thomas takes third on a wild pitch. Virdon walks and Groat beats out an infield single, scoring Thomas. Pirates win 5-4 (450, 28).

CONSIDER NFL EXPANSION TO 14

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A discussion of the Players' Association, talk about possible expansion to a 14-team league and proposed rule revisions are on the schedule for today's second session of the annual National Football League meeting.

The 12 NFL clubs completed their annual 30-round player draft yesterday and today go behind closed doors in executive session to take up various problems confronting the league. Commissioner Bert Bell, who last night was awarded a $10,000 boost in salary to $40,000 a year and a $10,000 bonus, for 1956, presided.

Bell was expected to submit the results of his two-day meeting with player representatives Kyle Rote of the New York Giants, and Norman Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams and their attorney, Creighton Miller, former Notre Dame football player.

The players ask for formal recognition by the owners and the league, a minimum salary of $5,000, expense money in training season, a $12 minimum for board and lodging between the end of the training season and the first league game, an injury clause guaranteeing a full season's pay and a shorter training season.

Favor Logart To Beat Yama Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Isaac Logart, ranked among the first five welterweight contenders, is a slight favorite over Yama Bahama, 153-pounder from Bimini in the Bahamas, in tonight's 10-round match at Madison Square Garden.

The match, scheduled for 10 p. m. EST will be carried on network (NBC) radio and television. Two judges and a referee will officiate, scoring by rounds with a supplementary point system.

Sportsmen Ask Leader's Support

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs has called on Gov. Leader to give "full support" to a proposed purchase of 8,000 acres for new game land in Pike County.

Federation Secretary Charles H. Neff of Allentown asked Leader in a letter to prevent "any legislator or third party" from blocking the purchase. Neff did not elaborate on the inference.

He said the land was "essential to provide more outdoor recreation facilities for the heavily populated eastern section of the commonwealth."

A copy of yesterday's letter was sent to Logan J. Bennett, executive director of the Game Commission.

Doug Leaman, who played with Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain on the championship Overbrook High team in Philadelphia, is starting for the Penn Military College five.

His Golden Anniversary at the Wheel!

In Texas, there is a gentleman who is currently driving out his fiftieth year at the wheel of a Cadillac car.

In New Jersey, there is another gentleman who has purchased every yearly model that Cadillac has produced over the past fifty-three years.

These are simply dramatic examples of one of the most remarkable truths in all motordom: that once a man takes the wheel of a Cadillac, he usually remains at the wheel of a Cadillac!

To be sure, a motor car would have to offer many unique virtues in order to win so generous a place for itself in the affections of so many.

And, in the case of Cadillac, we think these virtues are self-evident.

There is, first of all, quality. No effort of styling or design or craftsmanship is ever spared to make Cadillac the finest possible motor car.

There is beauty and luxury and performance. The car's magnificent styling and interior coachwork have, over the years, brought Cadillac an inbred majesty and elegance that are entirely its own. . . . and Cadillac engineering has been the industry's constant inspiration.

Finally, there is reputation. Never in automotive history has another motor car sustained such an abiding public conviction in its own goodness.

And, certainly, these basic Cadillac ingredients have this year reaped their richest harvest.

So whether you've been at the wheel of a Cadillac for half a century . . . or have yet to spend your first hour in the "car of cars" . . . you should see and drive this newest of Cadillacs.

Need we say more?

IKE MUST PICK NEW SUPREME COURT JUSTICE

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower had the task today of choosing a successor for retiring Justice Stanley F. Reed, once counted as a liberal and later a conservative member of the Supreme Court.

Reed's retirement was announced by the White House yesterday, the 19th anniversary of his service on the high tribunal. He plans to step down Feb. 25 because—as he told newsmen — "I'm 72 years old" and the "strain of unremitting exertion" demanded by his duties "no longer seems wise."

This is the fourth time Eisenhower has been called on to fill a vacancy on the nine-member Supreme Court.

Brownell Mentioned
As on previous occasions, early speculation centered around the names of Atty. Gen. Brownell, former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, and Leonard W. Hall who steps out today as Republican National Chairman.

Reed, who started his government service in 1929 under President Hoover, said he plans to remain in Washington most of the time, with frequent trips to his farm in Maysville, Ky.

He will continue to draw $35,000 a year in retirement, and will be available for occasional service on other federal courts.

Dismiss Jury In Horn Morals Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A jury reported last night it could not decide on a verdict in the trial of former radio and television personality Bob Horn, who was charged with committing immoral acts with a teen-age girl.

A jury of nine women and three men was dismissed shortly before midnight by Judge Edwin O. Lewis of Quarter Sessions Court. The deadlock was announced after the jury began its deliberations.

The case now will be rescheduled for a new trial.

The 40-year-old Horn denied the commonwealth's accusations that he committed four illicit acts with the girl. He testified that he thought she was a "pathological liar." Shortly before the jury retired, it had heard the girl take the stand again to rebut Horn's denials.

Seized Mines Will Be Sold For Taxes

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service spokesman says two hard coal mines seized near here yesterday for unpaid taxes will be sold in the near future.

The mines outside Tower City, Pa., were owned by Richard Garole and Aurilio Cano. James H. Kane, internal revenue collection officer, said the 12-man operation owed withholding and social security taxes totalling $5,044.

District Director Edgar A. McGuinness, Philadelphia, said the property would be disposed of soon in a public sale.

Honeymoon Haven Damaged By Flames

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Fire yesterday badly damaged the Pocono Gardens Lodge, a haven for honeymooners, near Cresco in the Pocono Mountains. Within the last four years disastrous floods and another fire have hit the two-story resort building.

For more than two hours volunteer firemen from several towns fought the flames. Although the hotel had practically a full house, no one was hurt. It was reported that the fire started in the kitchen and spread rapidly. No estimate of damage was given.

Committees were reorganized at a recent meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Taneytown, held at the American Legion Home.

New committees include: Publicity, Marlin L. Rittase, chairman, Tommy Phillips, James Fair, Glenn Lookingbill and James Pream; profit making, Harry Dougherty Jr., chairman, Robert Boone, Earl Lookingbill, Guy Morrison, Edward Sauble and Kenneth Hull; special activities, John S. Harner, chairman, William Copenhaver, Russell Walker, Eugene Vaughn, Herbert Bowers, Keith Brown and John Myers, program, Glenn Bollinger, chairman, George Pream, Delmont Koons Jr., Clarence Farner, Ray Copenhaver, Arthur Garvin and Martin Smith.

Edward Sauble, president, conducted the meeting.

MANSFIELD HAS MID-EAST PLAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today "the record" will show he offered proposals for meeting the Middle East crisis months before the attack on Egypt.

He said his party stands ready to write changes into the Eisenhower Middle East resolution "to make it more effective."

Two days ago, President Eisenhower told his news conference that critics of Secretary of State Dulles have not pointed to any specific errors nor offered any constructive alternatives to Dulles' policy actions in the Middle East.

Mansfield said he offered suggestions for averting the Middle East crisis in a series of speeches inserted in the Congressional Record as early as last August.

He said he wants the United States to take the lead in getting the United Nations to set up a commission to control arms shipments to the Middle East, and to take a more active role in trying to settle the Arab-Israeli feud.

Citrus fruits and tomatoes are ace-high in supplying vitamin C; green and leafy vegetables and potatoes are also sources of this vitamin and can help to make up the quotient of this nutrient we need every day.

Lutherans Honor Aged Clergyman

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The National Lutheran Council yesterday honored a retired 78-year-old clergyman of Willow Grove, Pa., who is credited with starting American Lutheran student work 50 years ago.

He is the Rev. Howard R. Gold, originator in 1907 of the first Lutheran campus ministry in the country at the University of Wisconsin. He ran the campus center for 10 years while pastor of a Madison, Wis., church.

The Rev. Mr. Gold spoke briefly at the council's annual meeting as it considered a report on its division of college and university work.

BUILT-IN SUPERCHARGER!

A Studebaker-Packard exclusive
so good other cars will have to copy it!

It's like having two engines in one—an economical engine for normal driving, and, when you want it, a super-powered engine for acceleration... for safer passing, hill-climbing and high altitude operation.

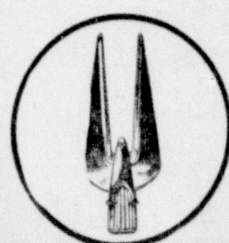

Today, only Studebaker-Packard brings you an engine with a built-in supercharger which has been tested and proved in service. Already, its high efficiency and remarkable performance have shown it to be the power plant of the future. Here, graphically, is proof:

The acceleration curves shown on this chart were obtained by plotting miles-per-hour against time, in seconds. The solid line shows the performance of Studebaker's supercharged Golden Hawk. The dotted line is the performance curve for the average American family sedan. Notice how much steeper the Studebaker curve is. It's the direct result of the supercharger pouring pressurized fuel-air mixture into the engine.

You can see how much more power the supercharged engine has in reserve for instant acceleration—at any speed—when you need it.

See for yourself—test-drive a supercharged Golden Hawk or one of the Packard Clipper sedans or station wagons at your Studebaker-Packard dealer's today.

NO QUICK ACTION IS FORESEEN ON IMMIGRATION

By EDMOND LE BRETON
WASHINGTON — Congress showed no signs today of taking quick action on President Eisenhower's immigration proposals. Among both friends and foes, serious doubts were expressed about chances for even eventual enactment of anything like the whole program.

Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Immigration subcommittee said in an interview it will be "a couple of months" before the subcommittee schedules hearings on the suggestions Eisenhower made to Congress in a special message yesterday.

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) of the corresponding Senate subcommittee was out of the city, but there was no indication that the subcommittee will meet any time soon to consider the President's proposals.

Back Present Law
Both Walter and Eastland are outspoken supporters of the provisions of present law under which immigration quotas are set on the basis of national origin. Eisenhower's proposals, while they would not do away entirely with this system, would substantially modify it.

As a result, the present ceiling of 154,857 quota immigrants would be increased by 65,000, and the number actually entering the country would increase even more. Nationals of Eastern and Southern European countries, now on short quotas, would have more chance to come to America.

Eisenhower wrapped into the same package proposals for admission of present-day escapees from Hungary and elsewhere and of persons who may in the future escape from "communist persecution and tyranny." An estimated 75,000 a year could enter the United States under parole.

States His Position
Proposed changes in the national origins quota system, the basis of immigration law since 1924, seemed certain, as usual, to encounter the greatest trouble in Congress.

Walter made his continued opposition plain: "I do not believe that this country's housing and educational facilities, institutions of health and welfare, and employment opportunities are sufficient to accommodate the additional number of those that would have to be integrated into our economy."

He said the cumulative effect

MRS. WILSON DEFENDS HER HUSBAND IN GUARD FUSS

DETROIT — "I've always made it a point to remain in the background," said Mrs. Charles E. Wilson when her husband was named defense secretary four years ago. "But I suppose it will be different now."

Today, the 67-year-old wife of the Cabinet member was very much in the foreground for her defense of her husband against what she called the criticism of President Eisenhower. It is the first time Mrs. Wilson has been embroiled in a public controversy at the capital.

The President had said at his news conference Wednesday that Wilson made "a very...unwise statement, without stopping to think" when he mentioned draft dodging in connection with the National Guard.

"Uncalled For"
Mrs. Wilson termed the comment "uncalled for."

"I think the President should have stood back of Mr. Wilson instead of spending his time commenting on how wonderful Foster Dulles (the secretary of state) has been," she said.

"I think you need a little pat on the back once in a while. Mr. Wilson has been trying to do a good job, and I think he has done a good job."

A son, Edward E. Wilson, described his mother as a "loneliness when any of the people she loves are attacked."

This "very remarkable woman" was born Jessie Ann Curtis, daughter of a construction engineer in Costello, Pa. "It's a little two-by-four town about 40 miles south of the New York state line," she says.

When she was 10, the family moved to Pittsburgh. At 22 she married Charles E. Wilson — an 80-a-month electrical engineer Corp. He already had designed the first electric automobile starter produced by Westinghouse.

Wilson later rose to become president of General Motors Corp.

Mrs. Wilson has reared three sons and three daughters and has helped raised 15 grandchildren. "I'm not much of a club woman," she once said, "and I don't care too much about it. When you have six children and 15 grandchildren you have very little time for hobbies. I have found. These children have been my recreation."

The Wilson children all have an exceptionally fond regard for their mother.

"While father was working hard toward his career, she was working just as hard taking care of the house and raising the children," Edward said. "As a housekeeper she has no equal. She is a real fireball."

MRS AMERICA CONTEST OPENS

The gas company extended an invitation to homemakers in this area today to enter the nationwide Mrs. America contest.

March 1. Following that date, selection of local, regional and state winners will get underway through a series of actual homemaking contests.

The Mrs. America contest is sponsored by the gas industry, including The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, and local gas appliance dealers. Entry blanks may be obtained from gas appliance stores or at the gas company office.

Not Beauty Contest

"This is not a beauty contest. The gas company, along with other co-sponsors, is interested in selecting contestants whose lives are devoted to running well-managed homes for their families," manager Julian N. Estep said.

"The women who reach the top levels in this contest can be proud

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is President Eisenhower changing? He shows signs of getting tougher, of more willingness to criticize. If so, he can expect to be repaid in kind and his second term will be rougher than his first.

A soft word turned away wrath was the policy of his first four years. It worked pretty well. But at a news conference this week he was unusually blunt twice within a few minutes: first, about Secretary of Defense Wilson; second about critics of his foreign policy.

He said stinging Wilson made an "unwise" statement in suggesting the National Guard had been a refuge for draft dodgers. This was the sharpest rebuke he had ever handed a member of his Cabinet.

Mrs. Wilson Answers

If he wondered how this approach would work, he soon found out. Mrs. Wilson told reporters Eisenhower's statement was uncalled for, and a pat on the back might have been in order. This was the first time the wife of a member of his Cabinet had hit at him.

Dulles has been a kind of whipping boy for Eisenhower. Critics of the administration's foreign policy have, for some reason, been reluctant to go after Eisenhower. They beat on Dulles instead, and recently Dulles has been under the most severe criticism of his life, particularly from Senate Democrats.

No Constructive Proposals

At his news conference Eisenhower took full responsibility for all that Dulles has done. Then, having put Dulles critics' on notice that they have been criticizing Eisenhower all the time, the President blasted his critics:

"These critics... don't bring out any particular project. They just talk about great blundering and lack of leadership. I have seen no proposals, no constructive proposals, for what even should have been done with the benefit of hindsight."

This in a way was Eisenhower taking off the gloves.

The Democrats have been very considerate of Eisenhower. He has now given them less reason to be by lashing out at them.

DEATHS

NEW YORK (AP)—Boris Romanoff, 66, noted choreographer who created about 50 ballets, one-time chief choreographer at La Scala in Milan and former choreographer and ballet master at the New York Metropolitan Opera, died Wednesday. He was born in Russia.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Erdell T. Mutchler, 68, former musical director for Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus, died yesterday. He was born in Wellsville, Ohio.

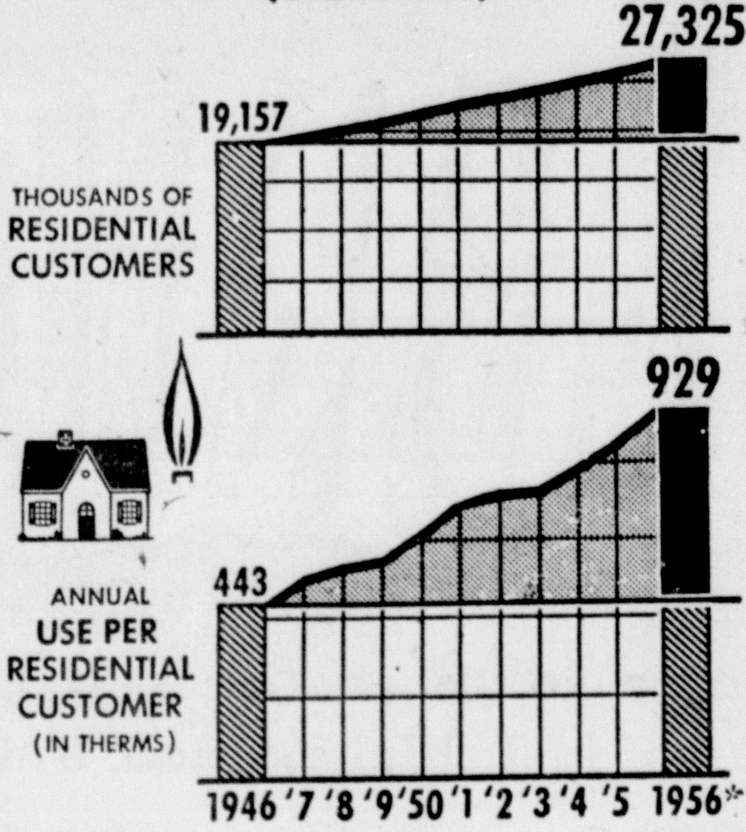

of their poise, personality, home-making ability and community activities," the official said.

Impartial experts will be invited to judge the capabilities of contestants and to determine winners at each stage of the contest.

Prizes grow in value with each advance in the contest. At the state level, the winner receives a cash award, a major gas appliance and a trip for herself and her husband to the Mrs. America contest in Florida. Mrs. America's prizes are worth several thousand dollars — including an all-new kitchen, several automatic gas appliances, a 1957 De Soto, wardrobe, vacation and other items.

TEN YEAR INCREASE IN HOME USE OF GAS

(UTILITY GAS)

SOURCE: AMERICAN GAS ASSOCIATION

*PRELIMINARY

THE gas utility industry has added an average of more than 800,000 new residential customers a year during the past decade for a total increase of 43 per cent. Meanwhile, the average amount of gas used per customer has more than doubled in this 10-year period, reflecting the increased demand for gas for house heating and the growing popularity of modern gas appliances.

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—The All-State Chorus, composed of 255 Pennsylvania high school students, will give a concert tonight at Washington High School auditorium.

The students were selected at auditions in the nine districts of the Pennsylvania Music Education Assn., sponsor of the two-day festival. Another concert will be given tomorrow night.

Students arrived last Wednesday to participate in festival educational features. They include a demonstration of choral repertoire, an opera workshop, counseling in choosing a musical career and an informal meeting on choral techniques.

NEW CHAIRMAN TAKES OVER AT GOP HELM TODAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. Meade Alcorn Jr., a champion of President Eisenhower's "modern Republicanism," formally assumes today the chairmanship of the Re-

Red Arrow Lines Strike Is Averted

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A strike called for last night on the suburban Red Arrow Lines was averted by an 11th hour agreement between the company and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

John R. Murray, commissioner of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, announced shortly before the deadline that "an agreement has been reached and there will be no strike." He did not disclose the terms of the settlement, which he said are being submitted to the union's membership for a vote with a recommendation by its negotiating committee that the agreement be accepted.
